

WRITING QUEST

A 60-Day Personalised Writing Improvement Program

Designed exclusively for Arnav Kashyap

Mission Briefing

Player: Arnav Kashyap

School: Sint-Romboutscollege, Belgium

Class: 5 (Dutch-medium) → Preparing for Class 6

Mission length: 60 days

Daily play time: 20–30 minutes maximum

Mission style: Mission-based, gamified, streak-driven (Duolingo-inspired)

How to use this document

Print pages 1–40 and keep them in a folder near Arnav's writing desk.

Use the Excel tracker daily — it auto-calculates XP, streak and level.

Parents: read the Parent Guidelines (page 6) BEFORE Day 1.

Start small. The first 30 days are about fluency, not perfection.

1. Introduction

This program turns writing practice into a 60-day quest. It is built around how Arnav already learns best: short, daily, gamified sessions with visible progress — the same loop that has powered his ~700-day Duolingo streak.

The goal is not to make Arnav write more. It is to make writing feel easier, faster and safer — so that by Day 60, he steps into Class 6 with stronger fluency, steadier handwriting, fewer spelling errors and real writing confidence.

Three promises this program keeps

1. It never feels like punishment. Every day is a mission, not a drill.
2. It is short. 20–30 minutes, period. No marathon sessions.
3. Progress is visible. XP, streaks, levels and weekly trophies make growth obvious.

2. Understanding Arnav

Before designing the plan, it helps to be honest about who we are designing for.

What Arnav is not

- Not academically weak.
- Not short on ideas, curiosity or vocabulary.
- Not lazy — he sustains effort when the activity rewards him.

What Arnav is

- Intelligent, curious and socially engaged.
- Emotionally motivated by interest, fun and friends (Arsh, Varad).
- Powered by streaks and visible progress (Duolingo ≈ 700 days).
- Energised by gaming culture — Roblox, Minecraft, Shiloh & Bros, Doctor Binocs.
- Capable of long-term discipline when the system makes effort feel rewarding.

The single most important insight

Arnav already has the trait most kids lack: streak discipline.

The job of this program is simply to redirect that same loop towards writing.

3. Root Cause Analysis

The school flagged slow writing and weak spelling. These are symptoms, not causes. The likely underlying mechanic looks like this:

Layer	What is happening	Visible effect
Attention	Flow breaks every few seconds while writing.	Pauses, restarts, lost momentum.
Cognitive load	Thinking + spelling + neatness + speed at the same time = overload.	Hesitation, slow output.
Confidence	Each correction adds friction; he expects to be corrected.	Avoidance, slower starts.
Skill	Handwriting muscle memory not yet automatic.	Tired hand, uneven letters.

In other words: Arnav is not bad at writing. He is doing four hard things at once. The fix is to separate them — one micro-skill per drill — and rebuild fluency layer by layer.

Design rule that follows from this

Fluency before perfection. Confidence before correction. Momentum before neatness.

4. Learning Strategy

The program is built on five principles.

Principle 1 — Separate the skills

Every daily session isolates one micro-skill: speed, spelling, neatness or idea-generation. Never all four at once. This is how cognitive overload drops.

Principle 2 — Stack tiny wins

Targets grow slowly: 3 lines → 5 lines → 1 short paragraph → 2 paragraphs. Each new target is only ~10% harder than the last.

Principle 3 — Make the loop addictive

XP after every session. Streak count visible. Boss days every 7–10 days. Level-up titles. This is the Duolingo loop, ported to writing.

Principle 4 — Protect the writing space

Distraction is the biggest enemy of writing speed. The environment is engineered (Section 6) before the work begins.

Principle 5 — Use his world as material

Prompts are about Roblox, Minecraft, friends, Bollywood, YouTubers he watches. Topic interest is non-negotiable in the first 30 days.

5. Parent Guidelines

The parent is the single most important variable. The strategy below is intentionally minimal — your job is to protect the loop, not run the lesson.

Daily ritual (5 minutes of parent involvement)

1. Set the timer for 20–25 minutes and leave the room (or sit quietly nearby reading).
2. Do NOT correct or interrupt during writing. Even spelling mistakes — wait.
3. After the session: ask 'What was today's mission?' and 'What did you enjoy most?'
4. Mark XP and streak together in the Excel tracker. This takes 30 seconds.
5. Pick ONLY 2–3 things to mention from his writing. See Section 13 for how.

The 2-to-1 praise rule

For every one correction, give two specific praises. Generic praise ('good job!') is ignored after a while. Specific praise ('that opening sentence pulled me in') compounds.

What to avoid

- Do not redo his writing for him.
- Do not compare him to siblings, friends or classmates.
- Do not chase neat handwriting in the first 30 days.
- Do not extend sessions past 30 minutes, even if he is doing well. End on a high.
- Do not skip the XP/streak ritual — that is the whole engine of the program.

If you only remember three things

1. Praise the effort, not the output.
2. Two specific praises for every one correction.
3. Protect the streak above everything else.

6. Environment Setup

Writing speed is mostly an environment problem. Engineer the room once; reap the benefits for 60 days.

Desk checklist

- Notebook (lined, A4 or A5, dedicated to Writing Quest only).
- Two sharpened pencils + good eraser + sharpener.
- Visible timer (kitchen timer or phone in airplane mode + Do Not Disturb).
- Printed Day card from this document, or the Excel daily log open.
- Water bottle. That's it.

Distractions to remove

- No TV in the room and no TV audible from the room.
- No phone, no tablet, no smartwatch within reach.
- No siblings asking questions during the 20–25 minutes.
- No background YouTube, no music with words. Instrumental low-volume is OK if he prefers.

Time of day

Pick a fixed slot and protect it. Most kids do best 30–60 minutes after school once they have had a snack and 15 minutes of decompression. Avoid right before bedtime.

7. 60-Day Roadmap (Phases & Themes)

The 60 days are split into three 20-day phases. Each phase has a clear focus and difficulty curve.

Phase 1 (Days 1-20) — Fluency & Fun

Goal: remove fear of the blank page. Build daily streak. Establish the ritual.

Week	Theme	Daily output target	Focus skill
Week 1 (Days 1–7)	Onboarding & first wins	3–5 lines	Finish the task. No corrections.
Week 2 (Days 8–14)	Speed drills introduced	5–7 lines	Continuous writing for 5 min without stopping.
Week 3 (Days 15–21)*	Story mode unlocked	7–10 lines	Story openers & idea generation.

* Day 21 is the first Boss Challenge. Phase 1 ends at Day 20.

Phase 2 (Days 21-40) — Structure & Spelling

Goal: introduce paragraph structure and gentle spelling work. Difficulty rises ~10% per week.

Week	Theme	Daily output target	Focus skill
Week 4 (Days 22–28)	Paragraph shape	1 short paragraph	Topic sentence → 3 supports → closer.
Week 5 (Days 29–35)	Spelling bank	1 paragraph + 5 spell words	20 high-frequency words/week.
Week 6 (Days 36–42)*	Explain it like Binocs	2 short paragraphs	Explanation writing, simple connectors.

* Boss Challenges on Day 30 and Day 40.

Phase 3 (Days 41-60) — Independence & Class 6 Readiness

Goal: timed writing, school-style tasks, opinion pieces. Arnav drives more of the choice.

Week	Theme	Daily output target	Focus skill
Week 7 (Days 43–49)	Timed writing	2 paragraphs in 10 min	Speed under a real clock.
Week 8 (Days 50–56)	Opinion mode	Opinion paragraph (60–90 words)	Reasons + examples.
Week 9 (Days 57–60)	Class 6 dress-rehearsal	Full 1-page piece	School-style prompts.

Boss Challenges on Day 50 and Day 60 (Grand Final).

Difficulty progression model

Each new target is about 10% harder than the previous week. If Arnav clears 3 days in a row comfortably, the next day bumps up. If he misses or struggles, the target holds for an extra day. This is the same adaptive logic Duolingo uses.

8. Detailed Day 1–10 Plan

Print these pages and tick off each section as it is completed. Daily XP is awarded for finishing — not for perfection. A double tick (✓✓) on any line earns +2 bonus XP.

DAY 1 • Mission Start		XP: 10
Warm-up (3 min)	Decorate the cover of the new notebook. Write 'WRITING QUEST — Arnav' in big letters.
Speed drill (3 min)	Write the alphabet a–z in lowercase as fast as possible. Note the time at the top.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 3 lines about: 'My favourite Roblox game and why I love it.'
Review (2 min)	Read aloud what you wrote. Circle your favourite word.
Parent note: No corrections today. Just celebrate that he started. Mark XP together.

DAY 2 • Friends Mode		XP: 12
Warm-up (3 min)	Copy these 5 words neatly: school, friend, game, today, happy.
Speed drill (3 min)	Write the alphabet a–z again. Try to beat yesterday's time by 3 seconds.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 4 lines about your best moment with Arsh or Varad.
Review (2 min)	Underline the funniest line. Add one extra word to make it even better.
Parent note: Notice if today's alphabet time is faster than Day 1. Celebrate the improvement aloud.

DAY 3 • Minecraft Builder		XP: 12
Warm-up (3 min)	List 5 things you would build in Minecraft. One per line.
Speed drill (3 min)	Copy this sentence 3 times, as fast as you can while staying readable: 'My pencil is fast today.'
Main mission (12–18 min)	Pick one item from your list. Write 5 lines describing how you would build it.
Review (2 min)	Find one word that surprised you. Say it out loud.
Parent note: Resist the urge to fix spellings. Only smile.

DAY 4 • Story Spark		XP: 14
Warm-up (3 min)	Draw a tiny doodle of a hero at the top of the page.
Speed drill (3 min)	Speed sentence: 'The hero ran fast.' — copy 4 times in under 60 seconds.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Continue this story (5 lines): 'The hero opened the secret door and saw...'
Review (2 min)	Pick the most exciting word in your story. Star it.
Parent note: If he asks 'is this right?' answer: 'Right is finishing. You finished. 🎯'

DAY 5 • Speed Day		XP: 14
Warm-up (3 min)	Warm hand: shake it, stretch fingers for 30 seconds.
Speed drill (3 min)	Write as many words as you can in 60 seconds (any words). Count them.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 5 lines about your dream YouTube channel — name, topic, first video.
Review (2 min)	Compare today's 60-second count with the goal: try to beat it on Day 12.
Parent note: Write the 60-second count in the Excel tracker. He'll want to beat it later — that's the hook.

DAY 6 • Free Pick		XP: 14
Warm-up (3 min)	Choose your own warm-up: copy 5 favourite words OR draw 3 doodles.
Speed drill (3 min)	Pick a sentence from any book and copy it neatly.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 6 lines on ANY topic you choose today.
Review (2 min)	Tell a parent the title of today's piece.
Parent note: Letting him choose builds ownership. Don't veto the topic.

DAY 7 • Week 1 Wrap		XP: 20
Warm-up (3 min)	Re-read Day 1 and Day 6 quietly.
Speed drill (3 min)	Speed copy: write 'I am a writer.' 6 times in 60 seconds.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 7 lines: 'Three things I learned about myself this week.'

min)
Review (2 min)	Count total XP for Week 1. Sticker / treat moment.
Parent note: First milestone! Celebrate clearly. He's earned the Pencil Apprentice → Word Cadet level-up.

DAY 8 • Spelling Sneak-In		XP: 14
Warm-up (3 min)	Copy these 5 words: because, friend, school, before, every. Twice each.
Speed drill (3 min)	Cover the words. Write them from memory.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 6 lines about a Shiloh & Bros video that made you laugh.
Review (2 min)	Check the 5 spelling words. Circle the ones you got right.
Parent note: Notice: spelling work is now 4 minutes max. Don't extend it.

DAY 9 • Continuous Flow		XP: 16
Warm-up (3 min)	Doodle for 60 seconds.
Speed drill (3 min)	Write for 3 minutes without lifting the pencil. Any topic, even nonsense.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write 6–7 lines about: 'If I were the school principal for one day...'
Review (2 min)	Read the 3-minute flow back. Underline the most random line.
Parent note: The 3-min flow IS the speed drill. Resist correcting the chaos — that's the point.

DAY 10 • Mini Boss — Friend Story		XP: 25
Warm-up (3 min)	Stretch fingers. Take 3 deep breaths.
Speed drill (3 min)	Write the alphabet a–z. Compare time with Day 1 and Day 2.
Main mission (12–18 min)	Write a 10-line short story called 'The Day Arsh, Varad and I Saved the School.'
Review (2 min)	Read it aloud to a parent. Pick your favourite line.
Parent note: Day 10 = first mini-milestone. Award the 'Story Cadet' badge. Big visible celebration.

After Day 10

Days 11–60 follow the same daily structure. Use the Excel tracker's Daily Log sheet — it has 60 pre-built rows with theme, target lines, focus skill and XP fields. Prompt ideas for every remaining day are in Appendix B.

9. XP, Levels & Achievements

The XP system is deliberately simple so Arnav can calculate it himself in under 10 seconds.

How XP is earned

Action	XP
Complete daily mission (any day)	+10 base
Hit the day's target lines/paragraphs	+2
Finished without taking a break	+2
Self-circled a favourite word/line	+1
Boss Challenge day (Days 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60)	+15 bonus
7-day streak active	+5 weekly bonus
Beat a previous speed-drill record	+3
Used a new spelling word from the bank	+1 per word (max +3/day)

Streak rules (Duolingo-style)

- A streak day = any session of 15+ minutes with at least one mission completed.
- Miss a day? The streak does NOT reset on day one of a miss. Arnav gets 1 'streak freeze' per week, applied automatically in the tracker.
- If he misses twice in the same week, the streak resets to 0 — but Phase XP is preserved.
- Streak counter is the single most visible number on the Dashboard sheet.

Levels & titles

Level	Total XP needed	Title	Unlock
1	0	Pencil Apprentice	Day 1 starter pack
2	60	Word Cadet	Choose your own prompt 1×/week
3	180	Sentence Knight	Story Mode unlocked (Phase 1)
4	350	Paragraph Mage	Pick your own Friday topic

Level	Total XP needed	Title	Unlock
5	550	Spelling Sentinel	Bonus +1 XP/spelling word
6	800	Story Captain	Boss Challenge picks own theme
7	1100	Opinion Warrior	Earns Class 6 prep badge
8	1400+	Class 6 Champion	Grand Final unlock + custom reward

Achievements (one-time badges)

Badge	How to earn
🔍 First Mission	Complete Day 1
🔍 7-Day Streak	Streak hits 7
🔍 Speed Demon	Beat alphabet speed by 5 seconds
🔍 Spell Caster	20 correct spell words in one week
🔍 Story Builder	Finish a 10-line story
🔍 Boss Slayer	Clear a Boss Challenge day
🔄 Comeback Kid	Return after a missed day
🔍 Class 6 Champion	Reach Level 8 / complete Day 60

Milestone rewards (suggested)

Pre-agree these with Arnav so he knows exactly what he is working toward. Keep them small and frequent rather than big and far away.

- Day 7 — Pick a movie night for the family.
- Day 14 — Choose Saturday dinner.
- Day 21 — Extra 30 min of Roblox / Minecraft on the weekend.
- Day 30 — Half-way reward: a new notebook + pen set, or a Robux/skin top-up of his choice (parent's call).
- Day 45 — Friends-over-for-pizza evening.
- Day 60 — Grand reward: pre-agreed bigger item or experience (concert, theme park, gadget — your call).

10. Weekly Goals

Each week has ONE primary goal and one secondary goal. Print this page and stick it inside the notebook cover.

Week	Primary goal	Secondary goal
1 (Days 1–7)	Build the daily ritual. Finish every session.	Make the desk distraction-free.
2 (Days 8–14)	Speed-drill habit: alphabet + 60-sec word count.	Introduce 5-word spelling micro-drill.
3 (Days 15–21)	Story mode: write a 10-line story by Day 20.	Start using simple connectors (and, but, then, so).
4 (Days 22–28)	Write 1 short paragraph daily (topic → 3 ideas → end).	Spelling bank: 10 new words mastered.
5 (Days 29–35)	Use 5 connectors fluently.	Spelling bank: 20 new words total.
6 (Days 36–42)	Two-paragraph explanation pieces (Binocs-style).	Self-check spelling before review.
7 (Days 43–49)	Write 2 paragraphs in 10 minutes (timed).	Begin opinion writing.
8 (Days 50–56)	Opinion paragraph with 2 reasons + 1 example.	Re-read and improve one line per day.
9 (Days 57–60)	Full one-page piece (Class 6 style).	Grand Final boss + reflection.

11. Progress Tracking Templates

The Excel tracker has all of this built in and auto-calculating. The templates below exist so you can print and use them if Arnav prefers paper. Both work — pick one and stick to it.

Template A — Daily log (paper version)

Date	Day #	Theme	Mission done?	Lines written	XP today	Streak	Mood (1-5)

Template B — Weekly review (5 min, Sunday)

Question	Arnav's answer
What was my favourite mission this week?
What did I find easiest?
What did I find hardest?
One thing I want to try next week:
Total XP earned this week:
Current streak:
Level reached:

Template C — Spelling bank tracker

Add 5 new spelling words per week starting Week 2. Use Appendix A as the source list.

Week	New words this week	Mastered? (✓)

12. Low-Motivation Recovery Strategy

Some days he will not want to write. That is fine and expected. The plan accounts for it. Never force a full session on a bad day — protect the streak with a 'Lite Day' instead.

The 3-tier recovery ladder

Tier	When to use it	What it looks like
Full Day	Default mode. He is willing and engaged.	Warm-up + speed drill + main mission + review (20–25 min).
Lite Day	Tired, low mood, or had a rough day at school.	5 minutes only: copy 3 sentences OR write 3 lines on any topic. Counts as streak.
Recovery Day	Refusing entirely / emotional shutdown.	Skip writing. Read a comic / watch Binocs together. Discuss it briefly. No XP, but no streak break either.

Refusal scripts (calm, no power-struggle)

- 'You don't have to do the full mission today. Do the 5-minute Lite Day and the streak stays.'
- 'I get it. Tough days happen. Want to do it after dinner instead?'
- 'Pick any topic in the world. Even something silly. Three lines is fine.'
- Avoid: 'You have to.' / 'Why are you being difficult?' / 'Just do it now.' These ALL backfire.

Streak protection

Tell Arnav explicitly: 'You get one streak freeze per week. Use it when you really need it.' This single sentence reduces refusal dramatically — kids who feel they have an out tend not to use it.

If the dip lasts more than 4 days

- Check the environment first. Has something changed (new TV in room, new game, sibling drama)?
- Drop difficulty by one week. Move back to the previous week's targets for 3 days.
- Switch topics fully to gaming for 5 days straight.
- Talk with Arnav about whether the reward at Day 30 / 60 still excites him. If not, renegotiate it.

13. How to Review Arnav's Writing

This is the section most parents skim — please don't. Bad review habits kill writing programs. The rules below come from research on motivational feedback and from coaching kids who improved fast.

The 2-to-1 review rule

For any single piece of writing, give exactly: 2 specific praises + 1 specific suggestion. That's the whole review. No more. The brain can absorb one correction at a time; piling on five corrections feels like punishment and the loop dies.

Phase-by-phase review focus

Phase / Days	Review ONLY this	Ignore for now
Days 1–14	Did he finish? Was it readable? Praise effort.	Spelling, neatness, grammar.
Days 15–30	Idea + 1 spelling word per day max.	Handwriting style, punctuation.
Days 31–45	Idea + spelling + paragraph shape.	Sentence variety.
Days 46–60	Idea + structure + 1 grammar/punct point.	Anything not in this week's goal.

How to phrase a correction

- Praise → Suggest → Praise. (Sandwich.)
- Use 'next time' framing: 'Next time, see if you can add what the hero felt.' (Future, not past.)
- Never write on his page in red pen. Use pencil, in the margin, light marks only — or just say it aloud.
- Never correct in front of siblings or guests.

Sample review (Day 4 story)

Parent says:

"I love how the hero opened the door slowly — that built suspense. And 'secret door' is such a fun phrase. One thing for next time: tell me what the hero saw using your senses — what could he hear or smell? That makes me feel like I'm there too. But seriously, the suspense was great."

Self-review by Arnav (the secret weapon)

Every day's mission ends with a tiny self-review: he circles his favourite word, underlines his favourite line, or stars the most exciting moment. This trains his eye without any external correction. By Day 30 he will be catching his own spelling errors before you say a word.

14. Long-Term Success Strategy

Day 60 is not the finish line. It is the on-ramp. Here is how to keep the gains compounding into Class 6 and beyond.

Day 61–90: Maintenance mode

- Drop daily writing from 25 min to 15 min, 5 days/week.
- Keep the streak counter running.
- Switch prompts to school-style topics (book reviews, summaries, opinions on real events).
- Add one timed writing session per week (10 min, school exam style).

Quarterly rebuilds

Every 3 months, pick one new micro-skill to focus on for 30 days: handwriting neatness, vocabulary depth, paragraph linking, dialogue, descriptive writing, persuasive writing. Run a mini-version of this program with that single focus.

Reading is the multiplier

Writing speed and spelling are 80% downstream of reading volume. Aim for 20 minutes of free reading per day in any language, any topic — comics, manga, gaming wikis, novels. Quantity beats quality.

Class 6 transition tips

- Two weeks before Class 6 starts, do 3 timed full-page pieces under exam conditions.
- Practice writing the same paragraph in Dutch and English (if appropriate to his school work) to build cross-language fluency.
- Buy a slightly nicer notebook for Class 6 — small ceremonies cement identity ('I am the kind of person who writes').

Signals to watch for

Signal	What it means	What to do
Writes faster than he thinks	Fluency unlocked.	Add depth: vocabulary, sentence variety.
Asks 'can I write more?'	Intrinsic motivation kicking in.	Let him. Cap at 35 min still.
Spelling errors drop without effort	Reading + repetition working.	Introduce harder words from Appendix A.
Wants to share his writing	Confidence is high.	Let him read aloud at dinner. Audience = fuel.

Signal	What it means	What to do
Refuses for 5+ days straight	Burnout or boredom.	Recovery ladder + renegotiate the reward.

The real win

By Day 60, Arnav should not just be a faster writer — he should believe he is a writer.
That identity shift is what makes Class 6 (and everything after) easier.

Appendix A — Spelling Bank (120 Class 5–6 High-Frequency Words)

Introduce 5 new words per week from Week 2 onwards. Mix Dutch high-frequency words from his school list as appropriate.

#	Words
1–10	because, friend, school, before, every, people, special, beautiful, favourite, different
11–20	important, together, another, between, through, around, almost, always, never, sometimes
21–30	early, today, tomorrow, yesterday, morning, evening, weekend, holiday, family, parents
31–40	minute, second, hour, weekend, month, season, summer, winter, autumn, spring
41–50	happy, sad, angry, surprised, excited, scared, proud, tired, hungry, thirsty
51–60	answer, question, problem, idea, story, chapter, sentence, paragraph, picture, page
61–70	remember, forget, believe, decide, choose, prefer, enjoy, finish, continue, begin
71–80	build, draw, create, design, invent, discover, explore, imagine, dream, plan
81–90	carefully, quickly, slowly, quietly, loudly, suddenly, finally, probably, usually, certainly
91–100	machine, computer, internet, video, channel, message, image, screen, button, level
101–110	character, hero, villain, friend, enemy, leader, team, group, club, captain
111–120	challenge, mission, adventure, journey, surprise, treasure, secret, mystery, victory, champion

Appendix B — Prompt Library (50 Fun Writing Missions)

Use these for Days 11–60 in any order. Mix gaming, friends, family and school themes. Re-use favourites — repetition builds fluency.

Appendix C — Parent Quick-Reference Card

Print this single page and put it on the fridge. It contains everything you need in one glance.

DO every day

Set timer for 20–25 minutes. Leave the room.

After: ask what the mission was, what he enjoyed.

Mark XP and streak in the tracker (30 seconds).

Give 2 specific praises + max 1 suggestion.

NEVER

Correct during writing.

Chase neatness in the first 30 days.

Compare him to siblings or classmates.

Extend the session past 30 minutes.

Skip the XP/streak ritual.

On a bad day

Offer the Lite Day (5 minutes).

Or use the weekly Streak Freeze.

Read together if he refuses entirely.

Don't fight. Don't lecture. Try again tomorrow.

This program works because it is small, predictable and rewarding. Your job is to protect those three qualities. Everything else is detail.
